About Fortes Education:

Fortes Education builds, owns, and operates outstanding British National Curriculum and IB K12 schools and preschools, and has been delivering a worldclass education to thousands of students since more than 40 years.

Fortes Education is a diverse organisation made up of committed and caring educators and innovators who seek to improve education through the most character-building and innovative schools that enable the young to flourish and achieve their dreams.

Fortes is a global leader in “Positive Education”™ a paradigm shift in education where outstanding teaching and learning is achieved by developing skills for not only academics and achievement but also wellbeing and character development.

Our Schools nurture young people to be life-long learners and global changemakers through an innovative, character-building education that inspires them to achieve and thrive with purpose.

Mission

“Nurturing the next generation of changemakers for a better tomorrow.”

Vision

“Empowering young people through an innovative and character-building education that inspires them to thrive and achieve with purpose.”

Values

To be one of the leading quality K-12 (Kindergarten to Grade 12) School and Nursery Education providers in the Middle East by building truly exceptional schools which inspire, empower and enlighten students, and enrich the communities that we are part of.

Our History

- Fortes Education was founded by Mrs. Shakuntala Mankani over 40 years ago. Starting out as Jumeirah International Nursery, Fortes Education has progressively grown into an educational enterprise of over 900 educators.
- Mrs. Mankani firmly believes that education should provide a solid foundation in values and character development. Fortes was thus built on the premise of providing a strong foundation for an “Education in Human Values”.
- With its first school and nursery, Fortes responded to the needs of the community of families in Dubai which had few schooling options many years ago. Families were torn apart with the wives and children living abroad in their homeland while the husbands worked in Dubai, or where the families in Dubai had to send their children to boarding school abroad.

Mrs. Mankani herself experienced this predicament with her own children who went to board in the UK and India.

- The establishment of schools, also presented an opportunity for the Mankani family to actualise its long-cherished dream of getting back into education to serve the community, as it had done in the late 1800s in pre-partition India. At this time the family owned and operated an all-girls charitable school called "Dayaldas Kanya-Paathshaala" which blended the time-honoured Vedic "Gurukul" approach to education with a modern-western pedagogy of the times. The school's ethos was to develop in each child a strong foundation of the human values of Love, Truth, Right Conduct, Peace, and Non-Violence, respectively, from which all sub-values such as Courage, Resilience, Honesty, Tolerance, Curiosity, etc., emanate.
- Fast forward to today, the Mankani family believes that it has reclaimed part of its lost heritage by bringing back "Education in Human Values" to its schools through the scientifically validated "Positive Education" philosophy and "PERMA Theory of Wellbeing", which are based on the field of "Positive Psychology" created by Professor Martin Seligman of the University of Pennsylvania, USA.
